STANFORD, KY., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1905.

NO. 73.

A Few Words To You.

We cordially invite the people of Lincoln county and Stanford to visit our store. Never before have we had so many of the thoroughly artistic things. Our store room has been materially enlarged and our stock of goods especially suitable for holiday gifts has been doubled. We are reputed to be the biggest dealers of the kind in Central Kentucky and it is our purpose to supply the people of Boyle and adjoining counties with a class of goods that can not be elsewhere gotten outside the large cities and on account of our comparatively small expenses we can and will save you money on high-class jewelry and novelties.

Our optical department has been improved and better equipped and patients suffering from eye defects are especially invited to visit this branch of our business.

HUGH MURRAY,

Danville, Kentucky.

HIGHLAND.

Mrs. A. L. Young has been sick for some time.

Some of our farmers have butchered their hogs already.

Rev. Ebright filled his appointment at this place Sunday.

Mrs. C. M. Young, who accompanied her husband to Kingsville last Saturday, was taken ill while there and was not able to come home for several days.

Elbert and John Young attended the funeral of Luther Thompson at Ebanks. Thompson was killed while coupling cars at Bowen Saturday night. Russell Baugh has pneumonia. Mrs. Mong Young is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Walls, at Kingsville. Wm. Griffin, of O. K., is visiting W. G. Acton.

Since our last report our neighbors have had quite a moving spell. Charley Vanhook moved to Kingsville and F. J. Conn, who had sold part of his farm to Burton Spires, moved to the house vacated by Vanhook. J. R. Carrier moved last week to Ebanks and H. H. Walls took possession of the house vacated by Carrier. H. F. Horton has moved to the Walls house and H. S. Cook to the Horton place.

Man's Unreasonableness is often as great as woman's. But Thos. S. Austin, Mgr. of the "Republican," of Leavenworth, Ind., was not unreasonable, when he refused to allow the doctors to operate on his wife, for female trouble. "Instead," he says, "we concluded to try Electric Bitters." My wife was then so sick she could hardly leave her bed, and five [5] physicians had failed to relieve her. After taking Electric Bitters, she was perfectly cured, and can now perform all her household duties."

Guaranteed by G. L. Penny, Stanford, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard. Price 50c.

MATRIMONIAL.

Miss Annie Hitchcock, daughter of Secretary Hitchcock, was married in Washington to Lieut. Commander W. S. Sims, of the navy.

A pleasant shock, but not a surprise, was given out yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, when it was learned that Mr. Milton Durham and Miss Minerva Cobb, both of this city, had eloped to Huntsville, Tenn., where they had just been married by a justice of the peace. The wedding was not a surprise to the friends of the young couple, as it was generally known they were sweethearts. The groom is a nephew of Mrs. Jennie Dillehay, and is a popular young gentleman. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cobb Jr., and is a handsome young woman. They will make their home in Danville for the present.—Advocate.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. When taken in time it prevents pneumonia. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

"I Thank The Lord!" cried Hannah Plant, of Little Rock, Ark., "for the relief I got from Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It cured my painful running sores, which nothing else would heal, and from which I had suffered for 5 years." It is a marvelous healer for cuts, burns and wounds. Guaranteed at G. L. ### KIDD'S STORE.

Col. W. D. Stagg and wife, of Liberty, were here looking over their farm and renewing acquaintance with their kinsfolk.

A malignant epidemic is going the rounds amongst the swine of this vicinity and many losses are reported. Of course, one of the many ailments called cholera.

The few hunters in evidence declare unusual scarcity of quail. A wise ornithologist emphasizes the great value of quail to farmers in destruction of insects and consumption of weed seed and recommends their protection as if domestic fowls.

The landslide has subsided and a normal state of affairs again prevails. A cynical citizen, after reading your fraternal explanation of John Henry Thomas' defeat, added that a little more time for reviewing Latin and French grammar was a consideration.

It is current here that when Judge Raines heard returns from North Liberty he scented a Waterloo and like Cox, of Ohio, declared himself out of politics. Another story is that disgusted with party spite and jealousy he has renounced republicanism and aligned with the democrats.

Miss Rose McCormack visited her native neighborhood Sunday. She is one of the most lovable products of her favored community. Ed and Joseph Young, of Cumberland county, passed through town Saturday with nearly 100 good mountain cattle, headed for a blue grass court day market.

At a protracted meeting at Frye's creek church a disorderly party, when reproved by a venerable member, produced a gun and flourished it menacingly, which provoked a party to thrust a knife into the obstreperous individual with dangerous, if not fatal effect. Another tragedy due to too much bust-head booze.

Judge (?) Elias Kidd, who owns the best bluegrass farm in Casey, is quoted as having refused $75 per acre for it. When not a member of the board of supervisors the judge has faithfully gone before it and insisted on higher valuation of neighboring farms, but has never succeeded in getting his lands assessed at more than half his cash valuation.

John Allen has scriptural assurance of prime favoritism with the Lord in the multitude of his afflictions, like Job of renown. The last visitation was on his cattle—four choice, light feeders dying of Paris green poisoning. A new tenant, in cleaning house, dumped a quantity of the poison over the yard fence with other rubbish, and the mystery is but half a dozen of the herd were poisoned. A faithful physician nursed two of the victims beyond the danger line.

It is doubtful if the oldest citizen, without reference to a memorandum can tell in what year Frye's creek road had an overseer and was given a hasty and flying inspection by a few of the hands assigned to its service. If there is a more execrable thoroughfare of equal length in the United States, the Argonauts will recall some especial Rocky Mountain trail as a fit comparison. Mayor Mason Popplewell, long exempt from road service by virtue of patriarchal venerability, in supreme disgust with local indifference, has assumed supervision and begun repairs with vigor and thoroughness which assure him remembrance in the prayers of all hitherto exasperated travelers and a niche in the gallery of patriotic, public-spirited celebrities. All praise to the grand old mayor, whose philanthropy subordinates the ease old age has earned.

John Henry Pemberton declined an anesthetic and submitted to the removal of a bullet which had grazed his heart, with the stoicism of a martyr. It will be remembered that Mr. P.'s dwelling was lately invaded at night by a brace of ordinarily civil young men frenzied by mean whisky, who proceeded to extremes of indecency and brutality, repressing the young husband and brother-in-law for a while with a pistol. When John's innning came he dealt a blow with an ax disabling each of the assailants, and the surgeon who attended the two declared that each escaped instant death by a hair's breadth. That the fugitives could be transported within 24 hours and live, appears impossible. If Adam Carpenter had canvassed the district with eloquent recital of that horrible incident, right in the center of the field, Took would now be imitating Hearst in his efforts for a recount instead of reveling in honor of a decisive majority.

"I Thank The Lord!" cried Hannah Plant, of Little Rock, Ark., "for the relief I got from Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It cured my painful running sores, which nothing else would heal, and from which I had suffered for 5 years." It is a marvelous healer for cuts, burns and wounds. Guaranteed at G. L. Penny's Standord, Lyne Bros., Crab Orchard; 25c

CRAB ORCHARD.

Lyne Bros., druggists, have received a large stock of beautiful Christmas goods. They will be on sale Dec. 1st.

Rev. O. M. Huey preached his farewell sermon at the Baptist church Sunday night, much to the regret of his many friends here.

A large crowd attended the sale of James Gilkerson Saturday afternoon and good prices were realized on the handsome silverware, etc. Mr. Sam Reynolds was auctioneer.

Mr. E. O. Singleton and family have gone to Oklahoma to reside. Mrs. M. P. Morgan and children, of McKinney, spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Gormley.

When ordering your magazines for Christmas presents do not forget to leave your orders with Miss Hettie Harris. Get your best girl the Delineator, Ladies' Home Journal or any leading periodical.

Mrs. Eliza Sinclair, of New Orleans, spent the summer with Mrs. Curtis Gover, returned home this week. Mrs. Lida Estes and children left for their home at McKinney Monday. Luther A. Smith, wife and little son will leave soon to make their home in Ashland. Misses Annie Bronaugh and Fannie Redd and Messrs. Reuben Bronaugh and Maurice Perkins attended the hop at Stanford Friday evening.

Mrs. Charles Speigle, of Shelbyville, Ind., has returned home from a visit to her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Doores. Mrs. J. G. Carpenter was up from Stanford to attend the Gilkerson sale.

A SUGGESTION

To The People Of Stanford.

The articles appearing in some of our leading publications have created a good discussion in Stanford in regard to advertised medicines, their reliability and power to cure, and as local druggists, we, Penny's Drug Store, want to say to the people of Stanford that we believe one of the most reliable medicines that we have known in our drug experience, extending over a long period, is Vinol, the cod liver preparation, made without oil.

Vinol is not a patent medicine; everything in it is printed on the back label of every bottle, and it actually does contain in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal, curative elements of cod liver oil taken from fresh cods' livers, and without a drop of the system-clogging oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and this is why it is fast superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

Inasmuch as Vinol is therefore the latest scientific improvement of an old and standard remedy it is the greatest strength creator in the world for old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers and after a severe sickness. It cures hacking coughs, chronic colds and all pulmonary troubles. We positively guarantee to return money if it fails. Penny's Drug Store.

Herb W. Edwards Injured.

Herb W. Edwards of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter, spraining his wrist and bruising his knees. "The next day," he says, "they were so sore and stiff I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared. I feel that this bottle of Pain Balm saved me several days' time, to say nothing of the suffering." This liniment is for sale by all druggists.

The Interior Journal.

E. C. WALTON.

BECAUSE of the visit of several preachers to his sick bedside, it was reported that the heathen editor, C. C. Moore, had recanted his infidel theories and wanted to join the church he has wronged. He has now ordered that no minister be admitted into his presence hereafter. Editor Moore, who used to be a preacher himself, is evidently nerving himself to die, as he has lived an uncompromising, unrepentant infidel and blasphemer.

THE independent voter is pretty numerous, and he shows that he has surmounted the difficulties thrown in his way by the official ballot. The election of Berry in Pennsylvania, Jerome in New York City, Moran in Boston and Pattison as governor of Ohio, although all the republican candidates except Herrick got majorities of from 27,000 to 39,000 proves that he knows how to mark a ballot.

W. B. HALDEMAN, editor of the Louisville Times, has decided finally to enter the race for United States Senator from Kentucky. Mr. Haldeman makes the race a three-cornered one and there seems to be a warm time in store for all of them this winter at Frankfort.

A LOUISVILLE couple gave a swell dinner in honor of their dog's 18th birthday. If they had had some children, as they should have had, they wouldn't have had to make such noodies of themselves.

A MOUSE in a woman's bonnet broke up a revival at Marion, O. The devil himself could not have created as much consternation among the fair sex as the little rodent.

POLITICAL.

President Roosevelt has sent a message of congratulation to King Haakon VII, the new ruler of Norway.

Circuit Judge A. S. Berry held as void an ordinance of Newport, giving preference to union labor in all city contracts.

The suit contesting the election of Democrats to offices in Louisville was filed by the attorney for the Fusionists yesterday.

The New York grand jury has indicted a man who attempted as a joke to vote illegally under the name of John Rockefeller.

The Kentucky State Journal published at Frankfort by W. P. Walton is decidedly the best paper the capital city has ever had.—Danville News.

Representative-elect Munnell Wilson has agreed for $300 to walk all the way from Madisonville to Frankfort for the Legislature's opening.

Gov. Follis has removed Police Commissioner Andrew F. Blong, of St. Louis, and has named George P. Jones as his successor. Blong is expected to resist the order of removal in the courts.

We would like to see Judge Saufley, of Stanford, enter the Senatorial race and win it. We need men of such high character and pre-eminent ability to represent us at the national capital.—Danville News.

The Kentucky State Conference of Charities and Corrections, which is in session at Owensboro, will ask the Legislature to establish juvenile courts, reformatory for women and other remedial legislation.

Senator Thomas C. Platt was the chief witness before the legislative investigation committee in New York. He testified that he had collected money for the Republican State campaign fund from the three big insurance companies for a period of about 15 years.

Among the United States Senators who failed to carry their home towns at the last election were Foraker and Dick, of Ohio; Penrose, of Pennsylvania; Gorman, of Maryland, and Smoot of Utah. Pretty soon we will have to print: Among the United States Senators who failed of re-election was Senator Blackburn, who, while he lived, he lived in clover, and when he died he died all over.

President Roosevelt announced the following appointments for Kentucky, to be effective at the expiration of the terms of the incumbents: William G. Dearing, of Flemingsburg, to be Surveyor of the Port of Louisville, vice C. M. Barnett. George W. Long, of Leitchfield, to be United States Marshal for the Western district of Kentucky, vice Addison D. James. Capt. Stephen D. Sharp, to be United States Marshal for the Eastern district. Reuben D. Hill, to be United States Attorney for the Western district. James H. Tinsley, to be United States Attorney for the Eastern district. Internal Revenue Collectors—George W. Lieberth at Covington; Edward T. Franks, at Owensboro; Samuel J. Roberts, at Lexington, and J. A. Craft, at Louisville, will be continued in office.

Bobbitt On Eloquence And Beauty.

STANFORD, Nov. 22nd.—This is the third week of my delightful attendance on circuit court. I would not be very reluctant to establish an office in this great town. If I did not live at Crab Orchard I would live at Stanford. If I were not Alexander the Great I would be Diogenes.

I have had more civil business this court than I have had for years. But the litigants have to stand back and remove their sacks for the mills of justice to grind out the criminal turns. Term after term the litigants with civil suits have their cases usurped by the criminal cases that arise between courts and then come in, and under the code, have precedence and the old tax payer must stand back and give place to the criminals. Your county attorney is able and fearless in discharge of what he conceives his duty to be. Judge Saufley's speech was a bouquet of classic beauty in which genius and eloquence wove a wreath of classic beauty scarcely ever equaled. His magnificent charge of Bonaparte with the tri-colored flag of France; at the bridge of Lodi, the 600 at Balaklava and the 20,000 Virginians at Gettysburg against a fortified enemy out-numbering them four to 1, and the gallant knights of old shivering their lances against the walls of Ascalon, were something for pyrotechnic beauty and grandeur of glory I never heard surpassed. Owsley's speech was the strongest argument I ever heard; all solid shot and bursting shell, not a sprig of rhetoric, not a flower of eloquence. All stern, cold facts and inflexible law. What a pity that the fickle, popular wave would cast such a matchless lawyer upon the barren strand of defeat! A speaker is almost perfect who can speak for an hour and never say a wrong thing nor omit a right one. John Samuel, you are a better interrogator than the great Colossus for you never ask an incompetent or irrelevant question. Hardin, for the Commonwealth, surprised even his greatest admirers. I am only writing up the lawyers for the Commonwealth this time. I perhaps shall do justice to the other side hereafter if I can ever wield a pen able enough. For your county attorney I want to add that for force of expression and grandeur of valor you are unrivaled; and yet this county has had a Miller and a Bobbitt! But let me leave the great warriors wreathed in their glory, and pay some attention to Nature's fairer flowers.

In one of my long, vespertine peregrinations last week I met an attractive teacher and some little children, accompanied by a lady so grand and stately robed in black, that in all my reading and wildest imagination I never dreamed of one so grand and queenly.

If she remembered the fine looking gentleman with his hat in his left hand, right full of gold and the literary gems flowing in copious showers from his lips and will address him at Crab Orchard, her letter will certainly be answered. And the affluent widow in an adjacent country, to whom an editor offered $10.00 for eight pages I wrote her, I say sell it to him and I will write you another worth $20.00. One of my clients led me to the telephone the other day and there I was entertained and bewildered in a maze of beauty from which there will never be an extrication. I met her, if an angel of such rare delicate beauty can be designated by an apposite pronoun, of the feminine gender. I shall not write her name, although she told me to, but I shall not desecrate heavenly creatures by exposing their names to the eyes of the profane.

But this is what I said to her, with my left hand full of hat, my right hand full of gold and a mouthful of pearls: I make my obeisance to the queen of telephone girls. I have served written notice on one lady to marry her after court adjourns, and to another lassie I am engaged to be married when the June roses bloom. All may be changed by a telephone soon. To-morrow evening we are to sup at the Restaurant Jones. Yours in the misery of delight.
